

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

*SCAPE UNVEILS A NEW GENERATION OF YOUTH STREAMERS

- Four graduates of the Pathway programme are now certified as Twitch Partners

23 March 2021, Singapore – Today, a mental health advocate, a university student, a video producer, and ex-veterinary technologist have achieved Twitch “Partner” status through *SCAPEsports. These four Singaporean youths – Zi Le Tea (skyllabtw), Kim Hyun June (Kimmothy), Clara Tan (declaration_) and Tricia Tay (HuffnPufffz) are amongst the 29 graduates of Pathway – a 10-week long Talent Development Programme jointly organised by *SCAPE and Twitch, together with programme partner Zenway Productions.

“These four graduates were chosen as Twitch Partners due to their outstanding growth and engagement as a creator on our service within the duration of Pathway,” said Sunita Kaur, Senior Vice President APAC at Twitch. “We look forward to seeing them flourish as creators with their new status as Twitch Partner and grow their community in Singapore.”

Last December, 29 aspiring youth streamers were selected as mentees to take part in masterclasses under the programme with industry mentors to learn the digital skills required for successful content creation.

Of the 29 youths, Zi Le Tea (skyllabtw), Kim Hyun June (Kimmothy), Clara Tan (declaration_) and Tricia Tay (HuffnPuffz) were certified for their unique persona and meeting all the requirements set under Pathway and the mentors, including streaming at least fifteen hours per week.

Zi Le Tea (skyllabtw), a variety streamer, had shown a different style of streaming by turning uncomfortable topics – mental health and depression – into content. Zi Le is currently recovering from depression and hosted a charity stream during Pathway to raise awareness and support for mental health. She also helped raise donations towards the Singapore Mental Health Association during her Pathway streams.

On the other hand, Kim Hyun June (Kimmothy) is a university student who started streaming for his gaming passion. He streams all-things gaming from informative gameplay to community games with his audience. To commemorate his Twitch Partner status, Kim Hyun June (Kimmothy) also hosted a 24-hour stream engaging in activities and food challenges with his viewers.

Opening more opportunistic doors as *SCAPEsports Pathway graduates

In the coming months, *SCAPEsports will also be announcing a new *SCAPEsports Twitch Team with a few of the first Pathway graduates invited as ambassadors. These graduates will also be named *SCAPE branded streamers and will be spearheading the team to foster and create communities through collaborations. As branded streamers, Twitch will be sharing a monthly allowance with these youths in order to continue supporting their journey as streamers.

The full list of certified youths can be found in the ANNEX.

ANNEX A: Pathway Twitch Partner status streamers

Name	Bio
 Zi Le Tea (skyllabtw)	Zi Le labels herself as the smallest streamer standing at 142cm tall. As a variety streamer, Zi Le delivers a wide range of streaming content from IRL to Just-Chatting streams where she engages in conversations and provides advice to her viewers, and sings her heart out. Zi Le left University to pursue full-time streaming. Even though she faced criticism for leaving her studies, achieving Twitch Partner status further ascertained her ambition and goal to continue pushing forward. Zi Le is a mental health advocate. During the Pathway Programme, she hosted a charity stream to raise awareness and support towards mental health. She also raised donations for the Singapore Mental Health Association.
 Kim Hyun June (Kimmothy)	Hyun June is currently a university student in Singapore who streams and creates videos. His streams mainly revolve around the game League of Legends, with high level gameplay experience for the audience. He also does informative gameplay and community games with his audience. Since getting the Partner status, Hyun June has done a 24-hour stream with his viewers, and hosted and commentated a local League of Legends tournament for the local community in Singapore. Hyun June believes that one of the most important things to streaming is understanding

	your audience. Knowing what the audience enjoys watching, what hypes them, what makes them laugh – these interactions are what pushes him to continue streaming.
 Clara Tan (declaration )	Clara started streaming in 2019 and is primarily known for First Player Shooter game streams such as Counter-Strike (CS:GO) and Valorant. She has played competitive CS:GO and Valorant after forming a team with other streamers she met. Clara is also a full-time Video Producer and the Vice President of a community band. Clara also started a fundraiser on Twitch in 2020 that raised $4000 to help migrant workers during COVID-19 pandemic.
 Tricia Tay (HuffnPuffz)	Tricia is an ex-veterinary technologist turned streamer. She specialises in streaming gaming content, especially for the game Monster Hunter: World. Her streams are usually chill, and she prioritises playing with her viewers. Tricia's streams tend to stand out from the rest because she prioritises engaging and talking with her viewers over gameplay. Much like a "Just Chatting" stream but with a game being played in the background. She is also known for her funny and unfiltered content, where she shares embarrassing stories of her life or daily happenings. Tricia is unapologetically candid and not afraid to be her true self on stream (even if it means burping and farting in front of people on the Internet).
